Police brutality charges against two West Sac cops dismissed

By David Weller

Officers Donald Donoho and Jeffrey Neuman will not have to face felony assault charges resulting from an arrest they made in February, Judge W. Arvid Johnson decided Friday.

The two long time West Sacramento police officers were charged with assault and assault under the color of authority stemming from a February 8 arrest of Jesse Beltran, a 27 year old parolee of state prison.

After hearing testimony from police Sergeant Don Cox, who witnessed the arrest, and from a UCD Medical Center doctor who testified that Beltran's injuries could have been caused when he tripped over a fence while fleeing the officers, Judge Arvid found insufficient evidence to support the charges.

According to Donoho's attorney, the decision showed that the officers were "doing their job."

"The law is that they are not to jeopardize their safety or the safety of the public. What they were trying to do is subdue him, and they are entitled to use reasonable force," said attorney John Virga.

Virga went on to say that the doctor's testimony that Beltran was found to have alcohol, methamphetamine, and cocaine in his blood after his arrest supports the contention that Beltran was resisting arrest. He also pointed out that Beltran is a very muscular man who is difficult to subdue.

Now that the charges have been dismissed, the officers still face an administrative hearing by the police department. It was information from an internal departmental investigation that first drew the district attorney's attention to the case.

The officers are on paid administrative leave pending the outcome of the hearing. The hearing could result in actions ranging from dismissal to immediate reinstatement.

> John Virga, attorney for accused officer Donald Donaho

According to Police Chief Larry Gore, evidence will be considered in the hearing which was not admissible in the court case.

Gore is prevented by law from discussing the details of the evidence his department has collected in the case. Among the information he will be able to use are "policies, procedures, truthfulness, and performance history," he said.

An unlikely place for a winery?

By David Weller

Where is the world's smallest profitable winery? According to retired college English teacher and wine maker Charles Myers, it is right here in West Sacramento.

Working out of a light colored stucco building on Harbor Blvd with no sign to mark it, Myers has been making wine and shipping it to locations as far away as the Ritz Hotel in London under his "Harbor Winery" label since 1972.

"The thing about a winery is you better put it where you want it, because it would be too much trouble to move," he said in a recent interview.

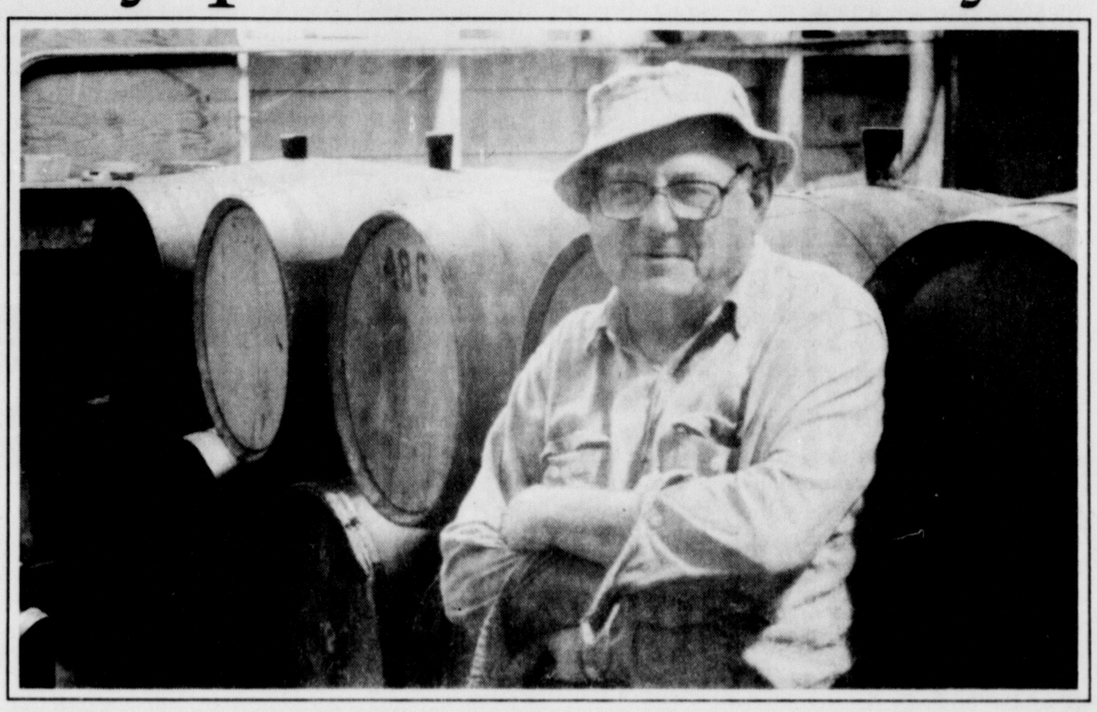

Myers takes pride in the fact that all his wines are mature when sold. Inside, the building is stacked with crates of wine dating back to 1987.

He has no formal training in winemaking.

"As I tell my students, if you can read a book, you can do just about anything, short of removing your own appendix," he joked.

Although Myers makes and sells no more than 1,000 cases in a year, he has made money every year. Locally, his biggest retailer is Corti Brothers. His label is also sold at the Davis Food Co-op and Sacramento's Natural Food Co-op. Local restaurants such as Biba's and Verona Joe's have also sold his wines.

Further abroad he sells "quite a lot" to the Pennsylvania liquor control board, and to locations in Illinois, Minnesota, Montgomery County Maryland, and the Netherlands.

Charles Myers amid some of his winemaking casks

Myers says his interest in wine stems from his childhood in Monterey, California. "I grew up from the age of 13 in Monterey when it was a little Sicilian fishing village that happened to in California."

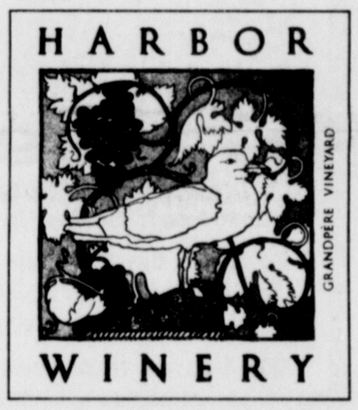

He began making wine in 1954, and was encouraged by friends who continually asking him for wine to start a business.

"By 1972 it looked feasible to start the business," he said.

Myers buys his grapes from vineyards in the Napa Valley.

He chose his West Sacramento location in part because of legal restrictions on where wineries could be located. "At that time, if you wanted to have a winery, you had to be in an industrial zone. This property was available for lease."

> The 'Harbor Winery' label can be found at Corti Bros., local food co-ops and restaurants such as Biba's.

The Harbor Winery logo features a seagull and some wine grapes, capitalizing on his location near a seaport.

West Sac 12-year old recovering from bullet wounds to legs

By Steve Marschke

A 12-year old West Sacramento girl is recovering from bullet wounds to both legs after being "accidentally" shot by a 13-year old West Sacramento boy with a sawed-off .22 caliber rifle. The boy was cited and released.

The shooting occurred on Yolo Street on Monday.

"The girl was shot through both legs below the knees," said Lt. Ron Moore of the West Sacramento Police Department. "There were exit wounds on both legs. After the shooting, she walked home to her residence, which was some distance away, and called us."

The sawed-off rifle was in illegal weapon. It is also illegal to discharge a weapon in city limits.

Low income housing advocate David Jones heads to nation's capitol for a year

By David Weller

David Jones, 33, attorney for Legal Services of Northern California, has been named a White House fellow for 1995-96. He will begin his new position in Washington on September 1.

Jones is one of fourteen people chosen nationwide by President Clinton to serve a one year appointment as a special white house assistant.

A long-time housing rights advocate, Jones and the West Sacramento city government have developed an adversarial relationship over the past several years. He has filed numerous lawsuits against the city, and has had a profound effect on city housing policies.

Jones has stated that a governing principle of his organization is to work toward the goal that the overall stock of affordable housing in the region should not be reduced.

His disagreements with the city are based on the question of how much responsibility the city must take to mitigate the effects of its actions on low income housing stock.

Every time the city has moved to close motels due to building code violations, Jones has met it with a lawsuit. The Vacation Inn, which the city bought, renovated, and renamed The Margaret McDowell Manor several years ago, is still housing motel residents pending the outcome of a lawsuit filed by Jones.

The city has held that motels do not fit the legal definition of low income housing.

As a compromise, Jones and the city have come to an agreement which states that he will have to sign off on any actions the city takes which effects the housing stock in the city.

Whether or not his move to Washington will effect the city of West Sacramento is still unknown. Legal Services has fought for housing rights in other communities and will certainly not begin ignoring West Sacramento just because Jones is leaving.

On the other hand, he is an extraordinarily sharp individual who may be difficult for the organization to replace.

Jones serves on the board of the Sacramento Housing Alliance, the California Housing and Homeless Coalition, Mather Air Force Base Redevelopment, and the Sacramento Mutual Housing Association.

Police suspect gangs in drive-by shooting Friday

A drive-by shooting being investigated as gang-related injured a 38-year old woman near Fifth and F Streets in West Sacramento at about midnight on Friday.

"She lived in the vicinity," said Lt. Ron Moore. "It was a basic drive-by."

Shotgun pellets injured her, but she has been released after treatment at the UCD Medical Center.

Police have no suspects in the shooting. Moore said it was unknown if the victim was involved in gang activity.

Cooperative Sacramento, West Sacramento riverfront efforts win regional planning award

A joint Sacramento/West Sacramento planning project has been selected for an award by a regional planners' association.

The Central Valley Chapter of the American Planning Association has selected the Sacramento and West Sacramento Riverfront Master Plans for its 1995 Comprehensive Planning Award for a Large Jurisdiction. The plans were prepared by the San Francisco-based Sasaki Associates.

"The Riverfront Master Plans provide a comprehensive vision and conceptual blueprint for future development of both cities' waterfront areas," said Val Toppenberg, West Sacramento's redevelopment agency director, in a recent press release. "We are eager to begin the work of transforming the riverfront into the premier public space and visitor attraction for the region."

The joint plans represented the first cooperative planning effort for the two neighboring cities.

The planning was performed in 1994, after both cities independently contracted with Sasaki Associates and then decided it would be beneficial to make their plans "mesh."

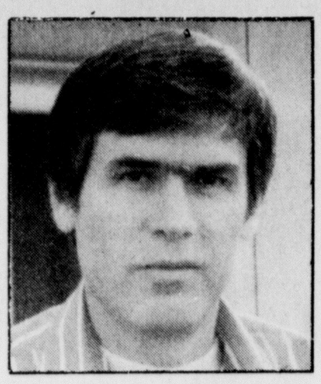

The plans include attention to circulation issues (such as roads, walkways and bridges), land uses, public places, riverbank access and docks and funding of development.

West Sacramento has set aside $1.5 million for a Raley's Landing riverfront promenade and park; its "highest priority public improvements" on the river, according to the agency's press release.

Last year, West Sacramento won the Central Valley Chapter's award for its "Triangle Plan," covering future development of the riverfront urban area envisioned stretching from Tower Bridge to the Pioneer (I-80) freeway bridge.

Saying goodbye to an old friend -- the Broderick Market

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

I was talking to a friend the other evening when he happened to mention that the old Broderick Market on 3rd street was all boarded up and out of business. "You're kidding?" I said with surprise.

"It's kind of sad," he said. "There's a lot of people in that area who have been buying their groceries from the Broderick Market for decades."

"Why did it close down," I asked.

"I think the city took the land under some law it has that helps it get rid of old rundown buildings," he explained, shaking his head.

"Really," I said, my thoughts suddenly wafting all the way back to the 1960's -- 1962 to be exact.

I was 15-years-old at the time and in desperate need of more income. I had been a Sacramento Bee boy ever since I could remember -- and had managed to save up enough money to buy an old 1953 Chevy which used more oil than gas -- but it was definitely time to find a higher paying part-time job. Bee boys only made about $30 a month back then, and that was only if collections went really well and no one tried to stiff you. Plus I had just got my driver's permit -- which meant that overnight (at least in my eyes) I had become one very cool dude -- and I was absolutely determined to find gainful employment in an area of the job market which didn't require me to ride around on a bicycle every afternoon with a hundred or so newspapers strapped to my body.

"Why don't you go over and talk to Jack at the Broderick Market," my father suggested. "We've been shopping there since you and your sister were babies, and he's always talking about how hard it is to find good box boys."

Jack -- whose last name I never learned -- was the middle-aged and very business-like boss of the Broderick Market. He, like all his employees, was Chinese, and it just so happened that shortly after I asked him for a job, he decided it might actually be good for business if he hired a Caucasian box boy -- a kind of 'front man' -- who could also help his employees better communicate with some of his customers. He also seemed to be impressed with the assurances I gave him that, should I be hired, my parents would definitely continue to spend the majority of my father's paycheck at his grocery store for as long as they lived.

When Jack explained all my duties to me -- which included keeping a sharp eye on any bums who might wander in from what is now beautiful Old Town Sacramento to steal wine -- he also mentioned that I would be making the unheard sum of $1.50 an hour. I felt like I had died and gone straight to heaven.

Now days, grocery stores have bag boys (and girls) -- even plastic boys (and girls) -- but back in 1962, a box boy actually worked with boxes. A huge bin at the front of the store was piled high with all different kinds of them, and it was the box boy's responsibility to dig out just the right box (or boxes) for every customer's groceries. I can still remember the pride I felt when I had finished creating the perfect box -- not too heavy for that particular customer, and with the eggs, bread, and potato chips gently resting on top of the meats, milk, and canned goods -- instead of the other way around.

My two years as a box boy at the Broderick Market were also interesting in a number of other ways. Jack and the gang often seemed to me like they had come from another planet -- not just another country. Their strange customs -- especially the weird looking vegetables and seafood they used to eat for lunch -- fascinated me. They spent their days off (which weren't many because they worked so hard) in San Francisco's China town, but even the time they spent away from the store didn't seem to cheer them up much. They were always very kind to me, but they rarely smiled -- except when I did something really stupid -- like the time I fell head first into the bin in search of the perfect box. And when they would take one of their infrequent breaks from work, I often would see them sadly stealing glances at pictures of their loved ones -- most of whom still lived half a world away.

As I took one last drive past the old boarded up Broderick Market last night, I was surprised at how much it hadn't changed, and I recalled how my parents had first started shopping there way back in the 1940's. I also thought about how interesting it is that old buildings can house so many special memories, and I better understood what a friend of mine meant when he recently told me that he has to fight back tears when he sees film footage of great old baseball parks like Ebbets Field or the Polo Grounds being demolished.

Maybe buildings are a lot like people -- some of the really beautiful ones are actually pretty ugly once you take a good look inside, and a lot of the ones we don't think are much to look at on the outside actually house the kind of beauty that can change lives.

T.J. Smoot

"T.J. Smoot" is the pen name of a neighbor of yours who wishes to remain anonymous.

I toil in THACATHER*, and on fair weather mornings I cross the Pioneer bridge, craning my neck for a 55 mph glimpse of the tiny white boats on the river, never hurried, leaving small ripples in their wake. But on I go, struggling to merge, merge, signal, merge, squeezing in between semi's and delivery vans along Interstate 5 North. As I pass the Emerald City building, it's easy to reflect upon those floating white specks, and I try not to think of the 1000 years that must pass before I can hang up my pen and tie and lazily occupy a tiny boat on the river. Coming home at the end of a grueling day, when the Jefferson Blvd. exit stacks up with red taillights, I frequently veer off to the right to avoid baking in the sun like a tubesteak and take "the road less traveled," i.e., South River Road. During one of these detours last Fall, I serendipitously discovered...IT! The symbol of freedom and quietude. My ticket to a bucolic repose was up to the highest bidder. This rare gem of an Oz-mobile was For Sale! IT was a (circa) 1965 Silverstream camping trailer, a diamond in the rough. I just "knew" that with a little elbow grease and green stuff, it would be our mobile ticket to the Sierras or some other sanctuary of rest and retreat. And this rat could beat the race for a mere $500.00. Well, after a week or so of passing this answer to my unspoken prayers of escape, my resistance had grown weak. I had to stop and inquire within. Forget the budget, the "pay-as-you-go" responsible monetary philosophy. I just wanted to "take a quick look...just for jokes."

I noticed a gentleman standing guard near a pair of tall, thick metal posts just outside the property where the trailer lay. A little too excited, I skidded to a graveled stop and stepped out in the cloud of dust newly created. I put on my best schmoozing smile.

"Hiiiiii!"

"Hello." He proffered politely.

"Uh...do you own this trailer?" I pointed over his shoulder.

"Oh, no. It belongs to a guy who rents the property from the Hotel Association. He should be here any minute."

"Oh." I fumbled for a thought. "What are you doing here?"

"I'm waiting for that same guy to show up, so that he can open up the gate and let me turn on this sign." He motioned up. I followed his gaze up and saw...THE SIGN.

"Ughh!" I thought to myself, remembering how many times I'd noted THE SIGN on my way home, always embarrassed when it shone with precisely 78% of the bulbs lit. Its faded print boasts of over 2000 rooms available in town, but that's another story.... Soon I realized I was speaking to an official of the local Hotel Association. We had a nice chat about the hotels and something about the innate evils of taxes not going back to the hotels but rather to the heinous robber barons at City Hall. When it seemed appropriate, I made a bold move and tipped my hand. Pointing way up, I said half squinting, "That's an ugly sign."

"Huh?"

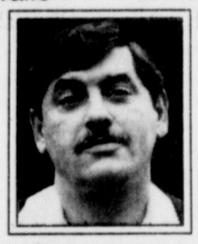

"It never works right, and it makes West Sacramento look bad. Why don't you just get a regular billboard with glitzy advertisements like the Tahoe ones you see heading East?"

"Huh?"

"Yeah,"...I continued, "Check out the other signs. They're

The Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

The biggest news to hit Northern California is the proposed move to Oakland by Al Davis and his Raiders. Davis signed a deal last week that would allow his Raiders to play at the Oakland Coliseum.

League owners will meet in June swoon right in stride as they ended up their 13-game road trip in L.A. The Giants won four of six to open the trip, climbing four games above .500.

Then they lost six of seven games, including a Dodgers four-game sweep, dropping their record below .500. It was the first time in 15 years the Dodgers have swept the Giants in a four-game series!

The Giants return home for a short, four-game homestand before their travel schedule takes them to Cincinatti and Atlanta. The All-Star break on July 11 will give the Giants a chance to heal some players for the last 2 1/2 months of the season. Their pitching staff is very weak!

Speaking of pitching, the A's (30-27) signed Ariel Prieto the Cuban pitcher, who was the team's top pick and fifth overall in the June draft. His signing bonus was over $1 million. He should make the A's starting rotation and make an impact right away!

The Sacramento Kings are looking for a top rookie in Wednesday's NBA draft. Look for the Kings to package their No. 13 pick with a veteran player and try to trade up in the draft.

The Kings need a point guard, and Michigan State's Shawn Respert, Arizona's Damon Stoudamire and Wake Forest's Randolph Childress are the best in the draft.

On a closing note, West Sac's undefeated fighter, Willie Jorrin, injured his ribs in a sparring incident and has canceled his biggest boxing opportunity on July 9. Willie was scheduled to fight on the nationally televised ABC bouts in Reno.

See ya next week!!

Girls tennis club beats Natomas

From River City High School

Friday, the West Sacramento Girls Under-18 Tennis Team travelled to the Natomas Racquet Club and shocked their hosts 5-0.

The West Sacramento team, organized and coached by River City High School coach David Brooks, is once again participating in the United States Tennis Association's (USTA) Junior Team Tennis League and the Natomas match was the 1995 summer league opener.

The West Sac girls expected a tough match, having been shut out by Natomas last summer, and were surprised to find themselves leading 2-0 before even taking the courts as Natomas was forced to default a pair of matches due to a shortage of players. In the five-match format, there are four singles matches and one doubles match. Natomas, with only three players present, defaulted the doubles match to West Sac's Douangchanh Lattasima and Christine Wu, and the #4 singles match to Meuy V. Saechao. Needing only one victory in the remaining three singles matches, West Sac swept them all.

At #3 singles, Mirthala Santizo defeated Amy Kimura 6-4 in the first set and then Kimura succombed to the tremendous mid-afternoon heat and retired. Chanthaphone Inthirath, who finished her high school season with a 14-2 record playing #2 singles for River City High this spring, won easily 6-0, 6-0 at #2. The match of the day was at #1 singles where Hoang Truong, fresh off her record-breaking RCHS season, was engaged in a thrilling three-set marathon. Truong lost the first set 4-6, but battled to take the second set 6-4. With the on-court temperature rising above 115 degrees, Truong and Kennedy High's Olivia Galang entered a dramatic third set.

Truong fell behind 1-4, but failed to give in and eventually triumphed 7-5. At one point, midway through the final set, the match attracted an audience

Blue Jays are WSLL Minor A Champs

Summer tennis classes offered

The West Sacramento Parks and Community Services Dept. is sponsoring four two-week sessions of junior tennis classes this summer.

Beginners will practice from 8-9 a.m.; advanced beginners from 9-10 a.m.; and intermediate and advanced players from 10-11 a.m.

Cost is $20, and scholarships are available to cover up to half this fee.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

How to tell summer is here, without a thermometer

There was a moment, probably in the last few days, when you could tell summer was here.

That moment came not when the temperature broke 100 with no sign of slowing down or when you noticed the gradual browning of local grasslands, which are now beginning to lose all traces of their lush, jungle green.

It came instead, with the first few bars of that Scott Joplin rag coming from that ice cream truck, back for another season.

That was the beginning of summer.

The whether-or-not issue of new bike lanes for West Capitol Avenue is coming back to the council next month, and once again several businesses will protest the fact that new bike lanes will mean no on-street parking in front of their West Capitol businesses.

Leaving aside the other issues (for the moment), consider the issue presented by a couple of police officials speaking informally a couple of weeks ago, when they talked about the new tool the police would gain in enforcing efforts against prostitution.

West Capitol, of course, has a chronic problem with streetwalkers. It is by far the best place in town for them to ply their trade.

So the bike lanes, and the attendant new rule prohibiting parking on the avenue, would be a major inconvenience to this line of business. Police could contact any driver seen stopping along the avenue, and investigate and cite suspected "johns."

No, it wouldn't be a 100 percent cure for the prostitution problem, but it would be, according to several police officers, a big help.

Shouldn't those concerned with improving the long-term business environment on West Capitol Ave. (i.e., the Chamber of Commerce and the West Sacramento Downtown Association) take a keen look at this possible benefit of bringing in the bike lanes?

Letters to the Editor

Majority of Three

This is an open letter to the citizens of West Sacramento. My name is Vince Frugoli. Thinking that there would be a great future in Southport, I invested in both residential and commercial property. In the last few years it began to appear to me that there was an attitude surfacing on the city council that I felt was detrimental to both the city and my investments. As a consequence of this perception I decided to attend the council meetings. West Sacramento citizens have in my view a large problem which, if not addressed, it will haunt our future. The city finance directed is continuously bringing to the attention of the council various fees used by other cities to raise money. He then recommends we do it here. The finance director and the council's lockstep majority seem to literally drool at the thought of more money to finance studies and engage in the academic titillation about the wonderful future for our city. In my opinion the lockstep majority has never seen a fee, a cost, or a regulation they didn't like. Many of the cities have a richer population than we do. The working class population that lives here not will pay when they move, remodel of fix their property. Joe Muse told you about that last week in his letter to the News-Ledger. This council majority will get to you one at a time. It is not always the other guy that feels the pain. How about your children, will they be able to afford to build and live here? The city council is pricing all the ordinary people out of the affordable housing market. The city council's lockstep majority has already priced neighborhood business out of our city. The lockstep majority approves any tax or fee that the finance director comes up with to raise money. They go after taxes and fees like a vampire goes after blood.

I have lived in West Sacramento for almost 40 years. I know there are good people living here, not just rich people, not people that can afford every fee or increase the city dreams up. Did you know that if you live in some parts of Southport and are on a septic tank, the man that comes to pump out your septic tank must pay a fee to the city. He of course has to pass it on to you. You pay that fee. There are hidden costs all over the place. Did you know that a house that wants to be hooked up to the water and sewer must pay $10,000.00? For commercial it is at least an $18,000.00 minimum to hook up. You might say "I have my house it won't affect me," be what about your kids, and grandkids?

There are 14,000 new homes in the general plan and the minimum hook-up fee will be $35,000.00 each. The city finance director and your lockstep majority are drooling at the money they can gouge from our future neighbors.

I have spent a lot of time trying to reason with the lockstep majority with out any luck from two out of there. Councilman Potnick has a wife and a son to take his calls. I have left at least ten messages asking him to return my call. He has not returned my call once. Beers has an answering machine. It must be eating my messages, as I have never received a return call. I don't think he wants to be bothered with anyone that understands facts in a different way than he does, that is described in the dictionary as arrogance. Cindy Tuttle, on the other hand, is very courteous; she returns my calls. She has taken time to come and look at my concerns and talk to me about them. I think she would like to help. However, Beers and Potnick seem always able to end up with her vote. West Sacramento's biggest problem since we incorporated is that the city council on important issues has since the beginning been three-to-two in the wrong direction. Beers and Potnick must go before they break our pocket books.

When King George of England was trying to give the thirteen colonies the tax and regulation shaft. Our General George crossed the river in small boats at night and got rid of George III's red coated boys. All we have to do to solve our problem is go to the polls and elect someone with good sense.

Bike lanes

As our West Sacramento City Council prepares to reconsider the "total ban of parking on West Capitol Avenue," which it previously rejected, it should consider the following:

(1) With the state offering to pay 80 percent or so of the costs, it sounds like parking elimination/installation of bike lanes will become mandatory pretty soon anyway;

(2) As one elderly citizen pointed out, "too often one cannot safely exit off-street parking because vehicles parked on the street nearby block one's vision when assessing on-coming traffic;

(3) Perhaps with official bike lanes, police could better control wrong-direction bike travel (which is supposed to travel in same direction, not against vehicle traffic);

(4) Encourage owners of off-street parking's larger lots to do as is done on several smaller lots...plant many shade trees so that eventually more buildings and parking spaces will be cooler during the hot days...and rather than ponds during rain the water therefrom would be absorbed quickly to quench the thirst of the shade trees...off-season irrigation would seem like a wise investment as shade/no ponds make for more pleasant shopping...maybe mini-shade trees protecting bus stops should take place at this time (if taking the bus is more pleasant, maybe a few less cars would be out there...);

(5) Since it is already illegal for truckers to disconnect/park their trailers "just anyplace," maybe it is time for them to start packing their own bikes and for the truck service industry to offer truckers a modern truck stop which includes food, lodging, ATM and other conveniences.

Bicyclists have money to spend if something attractive is offered to spend it on. And pushing the pedals causes much less smog. So, like public transit, those not interested in biking should be supportive of those who are -- as both equal less traffic and cleaner air.

Sound Off! is a call-in opinion feature. To find out how to participate, please see the ground rules elsewhere on this page. Guidelines are strict!

This week's calls (if your call is not included, please see instructions):

I'd like to sound off about the West Sacramento Police Department's speed trailers, the ones that list the car's speed as it goes by. They are placed right on Park Blvd., right in a residential neighborhood, and every time someone speeds by, a very annoying alarm goes off. . . What are we supposed to do, run out and tell them to slow down?. . .

I can say that the drivers never hear the sound and the residents do.

A lot of reasons why you haven't had a mammogram.

I'm embarrassed.

I'm nervous.

I'm not getting undressed for anyone.

There's no history of breast cancer in my family.

I take care of myself.

My doctor never told me to go.

The only reason why you should.

It may save your life.

Even though your doctor may not have told you to go for a yearly mammogram, that's no reason not to. A yearly mammogram takes less than fifteen minutes and can detect lumps too small to find even by frequent self-examination. And finding breast cancer early may just save your life.

Volunteers raise nearly $1,000 for local library

From the East Yolo Friends of the Library

Thirty-seven volunteers and 100 boxes of books added up to $956 in sales at the June 10-11 East Yolo Friends of the Library book sale.

The money goes to enhance the services and programs provided at the library. The children's summers reading program, leased best sellers, and the audio and video tape collections are some the programs benefitted.

The donations of books by the community, as well as the hard working volunteers who sort, transport books, do publicity, set up, sell and clean all made the sale possible.

Helpers for this sale were: Doreen Archuleta, Janet and Ted Bagdazian, Barney Bernabovi, William Bragg, Vivian Cecchittini, Kay Cheever, Ethel Connors, Margaret and Philip Crawford, Allene Dewald, Marie Freeman, John Giammona, Floy Gleason, Alice Goldie, Bernice Gwinn, Leila Holmes, Krista Holton, Liane Hopkins, Ruby Hulan, Jeanne Kelly, Anne Leibrock, Elise McCallan, Gloria Meyers, Lois and Jake Misfeldt, John Ohlson, Alice Queen, Phyllis Runyan, Joanne Schwartz, Su Sesso, Joe Sokalich, Pat Stratfull, Arno Witschard, Larry and Marlene Wyneken, Joseph Ziganto.

Thanks also to the News Ledger, The West Sacramento Press, Gorman's Stationery, Ramco Enterprises, Raleys and VFW Post 8762 for their support.

Helpers for future sales or people who have books to donate can contact the library. The next

Police log

June 21, 10 a.m.

A 26-year old man was arrested for robbery. He had entered an inhabited dwelling and told the victim that this was "his" neighborhood, that he belonged to a gang, and that the victim would have to begin paying him protection money. He took cash and other personal items.

June 21, 6:30 p.m.

A 23-year old man was reported to be in a stolen vehicle on Westacre Rd. Police contacted him and searched him, finding a "throwing star" (an illegal weapon) in his backpack. The man was arrested.

June 23, 8:30 p.m

Officers saw a car driving erratically on Jefferson Blvd. near Sacramento Ave. They attempted to pull it over, but the car fled, doing about 50 m.p.h. in a residential neighborhood. Officers believe they saw a passenger toss a small caliber handgun out the window during pursuit. The car failed to negotiate a turn, and was stopped by a chain link fence near Newton and Cummins.

The gun was not located. A .380 caliber handgun clip was located in the vehicle, and the 18-year old driver and 23-year old passenger were arrested.

June 24, 3:30 a.m.

Officers stopped a vehicle for driving violations and placed the 30-year old male driver under arrest. The suspect began struggling, swinging his fist and kicking an officer. He fled and they chased him, knocking him down and beginning another struggle. He was subdued and booked. The suspect was found to be under the influence of cocaine.

June 24, 7 a.m.

Shots were reported to have been fired on F St. A witness identified the suspect, who was found by police with a stolen shotgun. The 33 year old man was also a convicted felon. The man was charged with being in possession of the stolen gun, discharging a weapon in city limits, and being a felon in possession of a gun.

June 25, 11:43 a.m.

A woman putting her groceries into her car at a local supermarket was approached by a driver with a knife. He robbed her of her purse.

June 25, 1:02 p.m.

A boater on the Sacramento River near South River Road reported a jet ski craft floating down the river unoccupied. Police located the craft's owner and restored it.

June 26, 9:27 a.m.

A city of West Sacramento employee reported that someone had broken into a youth center, but nothing was taken.

June 26, 10:30 a.m.

A male resident of a West Capitol Ave. trailer park reported that a neighbor had threatened him with a rifle. Police talked to the suspect, who admitted pointing an "unloaded" rifle at the other man, but said he did it only after the other man had tried to run over him in a vehicle.

TRAIN ROBBERY!

YOLO SHORTLINE RAILROAD

SACRAMENTO NORTHERN

WANTED!

- Willing victims are actively being sought to ride in the Great South Yolo train robberies on Saturday, July 1st and Saturday, October 7th 1995. Come and ride with us through the tranquil farm and delta lands of South Yolo while enjoying a leisurely ride on our train. Then watch as your peaceful jaunt through the serene farm and delta lands comes to an abrupt halt by the sounds of gunfire as the infamous Sierra Outlaws rob and loot their way through the train.
- The cost is $17.50 per person with the steam engine pulling the train and $15.50 for the diesel engine. If there is a mechanical problem prohibiting the use of the steam engine then a diesel will be substituted. The trip lasts approximately 3.5 to 4 hours and run from West Sacramento to Clarksburg and back.
- Maximum capacity is 200 willing passengers.
- There will be only one train per day.
- Those wishing to purchase Robbery Tokens may do so at the beginning of the train trip or in advance. These tokens sell for one dollar each and the proceeds go to the Parks and Community Services Department of the City of West Sacramento for fund raising purposes. Your purchase of tokens is a fully deductible charitable contribution. You will be "relieved" of your tokens by the desperados of the Sierra Outlaws Bunch during the daring robbery.
- The train leaves at 1:30 p.m. from South River Road and Jefferson Boulevard in West Sacramento (Call for map).
- Tickets can be purchased in advance or at the time of the trip, although advance purchase is recommended. If your advance ticket is purchased for the steam engine and we are running diesel, then the difference will be refunded to you at the time of the trip. You may purchase tickets and tokens in advance by sending a check or money order to Yolo Shortline Railroad, P.O. Box 724, West Sacramento, California, 95691. Tickets and tokens may also be purchased from the City of West Sacramento Parks and Community Services Department, 1951 South River Road, West Sacramento, California, telephone number (916) 373-5860.
- Snacks, soft drinks and souvenirs sold on board. (Restrooms available)

REWARD!

A fun ride and a great time for a good cause.

Homeowners' Mello-Roos taxes:

Understanding what you're paying for

From Rick Brush
Vice President, Education/ Public Affairs
California Land Title Association

In purchasing your new home, your future monthly payments will be made up of principal, interest, real property taxes and insurance, but what is the tax for the Community Facilities District, otherwise known as a Mello-Roos District? The CLTA (California Land Title Association) has answered some of the questions most commonly asked about the Mello-Roos Community Facilities Act:

Q. What is a Mello-Roos District?

A. A Mello-Roos District is an area where a special tax is imposed on those real property owners within a Community Facilities District. This district has chosen to seek public financing through the sale of bonds for the purpose of financing certain public improvements and services. These services may include streets, water, sewage and drainage, electricity, infrastructure, schools, parks and police protection to newly-developing areas. The tax you pay is used to make the payments of principal and interest on the bonds.

Q. What are my Mello-Roos taxes paying for?

A. Your taxes may be paying for both services and facilities. The services may be financed only to the extent off new growth, and services include: police protection, fire protection, ambulance and paramedic services, recreation program services, library services, the operation and maintenance of parks, parkways and open space, museums, cultural facilities, flood and storm protection, and services for the removal of any threatening hazardous substance. Facilities which may be financed under the act include: property with an estimated useful life of five years or longer, parks, recreation facilities, parkway facilities, open-space facilities, elementary and secondary school sites and structures, libraries, child care facilities, natural gas pipeline facilities, telephone lines, facilities to transmit and distribute electrical energy, cable television lines, and others.

Q. When do I pay these taxes?

A. By purchasing an interest in a subdivision within a Community Facilities District, you can expect to be assessed for a Mello-Roos tax which will typically be collected with your general property tax bill. These special tax payments are subject to the same penalties that apply to regular property taxes.

Q. What happens if a general tax payment is not made on time?

A. Because the Mello-Roos tax is typically collected with your general property tax bill, the facilities district that obtained the lien may withdraw the assessment from the tax roll and commence judicial foreclosure.

Q. What is the basis for the tax?

A. Most special taxes levied on properties within these districts have been structured on the basis of density of development, square footage of construction, or flat acreage charges. The act, however, allows for considerable flexibility in the method of apportionment of taxes, and the local agencies may have established an entirely different method of levying the special tax against property in the district in question.

Q. How much will the Mello-Roos payment be?

A. The amount of tax may vary from year-to-year, but may not exceed the maximum amount specified when the district was created. In the case of the purchase of a new house within a subdivision, the maximum amount of the tax will be specified in the public report. The resolution of formation must specify the rate, method of apportionment, and manner of collection of the special tax in sufficient detail to allow each landowner or resident within the proposed district to estimate the maximum amount that he or she will have to pay.

Q. How is the special tax reflected on the real property records?

A. The special tax is a lien on your property, essentially like a regular tax lien. The lien is recorded as a "Notice of Special Tax Lien" which is a continuing lien to secure each levy of the special tax.

Q. Are the assessments included within the Propo-

Lutheran pastor is honored

Community Lutheran Church held a surprise dinner honoring Rev. Marjorie C. Beach on the 25th anniversary of the Ordination of Lutheran Women in the U.S.A. and for her many years of ministry in West Sacramento.

Pastor Beach has been ministering at Community Lutheran Church since 1979.

Pastor Beach, right, gets a cake and a surprise

Cpl. Jernigan

Marine Lance Cpl. Danny E. Jernigan, son of Danny and Delma Jernigan of West Sacramento, recently reported for duty with 1st Radio Battalion, Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

He is a 1993 graduate of River City High School.

Local OLG grad heads to Japan

Danelle Saldana of West Sacramento has been awarded the INETS cultural and leadership scholarship to Japan. The scholarship includes round-trip travel from the U.S. to Japan and a three-week tour of the country. The tour will include stops to Narita, Tokyo, Kyoto and Osaka. Danelle will attend a Japanese high school and live with a Japanese family for a week.

Danelle was awarded the scholarship along with eight other girls from the U.S. as part of a cultural exchange. Danelle is the first girl from the greater Sacramento area to be awarded this scholarship.

Danelle was selected based on her academics, leadership, and community involvement. Danelle's interest in the Japanese culture began with her involvement in the sport of judo, where she holds the title of the U.S. Judo Junior National Champion. Danelle intends to keep up her judo training while studying in Japan.

Danelle is currently a junior at Loretto High School, a Catholic college preparatory school for girls. Danelle graduated from Our Lady of Grace school in West Sacramento.

Juvenile mysteries featured at Turner

From Yolo County Library Arthur F. Turner Branch

"Solve Mysteries -- Read!" is the theme of the summer reading program at the Arthur F. Turner Library. Juvenile mystery fiction books have been labeled and displayed to help young readers make their selections.

On Wednesday, June 28, a "crime scene" will be the third in a weekly series of programs for school-aged children. The West Sacramento Police Department will be assisting by demonstrating crime-solving techniques and procedures.

The main display case will feature "Crimes Against Books." Library staff has saved some of the worst abuses against books as examples of the different ways books are damaged. Most cannot be replaced and the culprit was either not captured or claimed innocence.

The summer programs start at 2 p.m. on Wednesdays. The library is located at 1212 Merkley Avenue.

Preschool story time for 3-5 year-olds continues every Wednesday at 10:30 A.M. in English and at 11 a.m. in Spanish, as well as Thursdays at 7 p.m. in English only. The last preschool story time in this series will be on July 27.

New parks headed to school sites

The Washington Unified School District and City of West Sacramento have contracted with Ross Recreation to install six new playgrounds in West Sacramento: Alyce Norman, Evergreen, Westmore Oaks and Bryte Elementary Schools, as well as Bryte and Elkhorn Parks.

New slides, climbers and fitness structures are to be installed by Christmas, 1995.

It is a great deal for those who benefit from this good deal that he speaks of. This whole fiasco was rigged up by someone connected to the port to dupe us taxpayers out of the funds to overhaul this port without us having a word on it. I would think this set-up is unconstitutional without having it legislated or voted on by the people in the tax region. For instance, if I ask Mr. Sulpizio for $1,000 and promise to pay $3,000 to the government in 32 years ("that is how long it took to repay the so-called $3 for $1 back to the government"), he would tell me to go chase myself, which would be the right thing to do -- that is what the taxpayers of Sacramento and East Yolo counties should tell the port district to do.

We all know who stands to gain from our investment, yes it is big corporations who don't invest one iota in this project of rebuilding the port.

I fully agree with many people I have talked to that if this port can't mogate under it's own power without shoving a $35,000,000 tax on us against our will, then this public-owned port property should be sold to the highest bidder and get out of business like any other business has to do.

Or maybe the city could buy it and create an amusement park, like a mini Disneyland or Marriott's Great America -- that just may bring in some needed revenue to the city as long as there is not being anything done otherwise to bring in business.

Many people think this would be s mart move and I agree. This city needs something exciting to bring people in, other than "street walkers."

Finally, in response to Mrs. Hope Herr, Rush is doing quite well, thank you -- so are the other Republicans you venomized in your June 21 letter to News-Ledger. I know you either listen to Rush on radio or watch him on his television show in order to hate him; or do you listen to Dan Rather, Tom Brokaw, or Peter Jennings, who also hate Rush? Also, I don't know one liberal who believes in the death penalty for murderers.

Public Notice

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DONALD K. ELLWOOD

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Donald K. Ellwood:

A PETITION has been filed by VALERIE SEMERIA in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION requests that VALERIE SEMERIA be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will follow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on July 20, 1995 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 4, located at 725 Court Street, Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

What's New at The Library

Summer fiction includes some hidden 'pleasures'

FICTION

THE SIXTEEN PLEASURES
Robert Hellenga
Soho. 327 pages.
Set in 1966 Florence, Italy, this adult novel is rich in language and image. It is also not without humor, as an abbess convinces a young American woman to help save a religious order by selling, discreetly, some magnificently illustrated erotica.

BELOVED: The Passions of Eleanor of Aquitaine
Ellen Jones
Simon & Schuster. 565 pages.
Historical fiction is all the rage. This latest offering has Eleanor, 12th century queen of France, falling madly in love with Henry Plantagenet the charming, ambitious heir to the English throne. Jones' Eleanor was a magnetic sex symbol and politician.

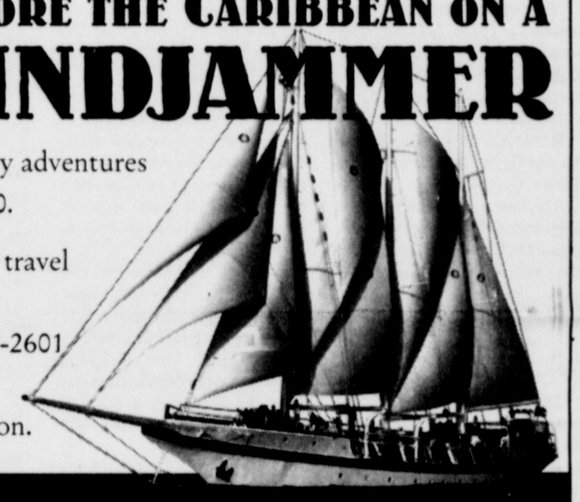

THE BIRD ARTIST
Howard Norman
Farrar, Straus & Giroux. 289 pages.
Fabian Vas is a young man in Newfoundland who murders a lighthouse keeper with whom his mother has become involved (while Dad is on a hunting trip). The stark landscape of a cold land proves the perfect setting--one that might cool one's mind on a hot summer afternoon.

CORELLI'S MANDOLIN
Louis de Bernieres
Pantheon. 435 pages.
Set on the proverbial Greek isle in the 1940s, this is the story of a beautiful woman, Pelagia, who is torn between two men. As the Nazis and Communists advance on the island the destiny of each of the characters takes hold and carries them through the next half-century. By a writer Joe Heller called "hypnotic."

Shoe Exhibit

The Towe Ford Museum of Sacramento is currently exhibiting West Sacramento resident Lana Paulhamus' vintage shoe collection.

A collector for over 20 years, she has found some of the shoes here in West Sacramento. The shoes date from the early 1900s through the 1920s. The exhibit will extend through August 1, 1995. The Towe Ford museum is located at 2200 Front Street in Sacramento and is open daily, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The phone number is 442-6802.

Bible school

Community Lutheran Church invites children age three to grade six to enroll for Vacation Bible School, to be held the week of July 24, 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. each weekday. Registration cost is $8. Call 371-8804, or visit the church, to enroll. Classes include Bible stories, arts and crafts, singing, prayer, games and snacks.

Band Performance

The Yolo County Concert Band will present two performances, one at 2 p.m. and another at 7 p.m. on July 4 in Central Park in Winters, near the fire station in Guinda. The band constantly seeks new members. Rehearsals are from 7 to 9 p.m. on Sundays at St. James School, located at 1215 B Street in Davis. Call 666-3886 or 756-4135 to obtain more information.

Special Offer

of more than 30 onlookers at the Natomas Pro Court. While the crowd appeared to make Galang nervous, Truong was unphased in her comeback.

"The people didn't bother me," Truong said after the match, "but all the kids cooling off in the nearby swimming pool were a distraction!"

Coach Brooks was understandably delighted with the victory.

"Their boys team hammered ours earlier in the day in West Sac, and this evened out the day. Obviously, they were missing some girls, but so were we. Cari Bucher, our projected #1 player was on vacation, Khonthavy Phouanglasy is recovering from toe surgery and three other girls were out of town. The heat was definitely a factor and we were just able to handle it a bit better than them today."

much more attractive."

"It would cost us $30,000.00 to repair this sign," he complained, regainng his composure.

"It's still ugly." I said squarely looking him in the eye, smiling.

"Who ARE you?" He murmured in the same kind of raspy, confused voice Schwarzenegger used in the scene from Predator when he was going to bonk the hideous alien on the head with a rock.

Fortunately the key guy showed up and let us inside the fence. Mr. Official entered the property and lit up the gaudy sign with a fizz and a crackle. I inspected the Oz-mobile and found it devoid of any conveniences. It would have cost ten yellow brick roads and taken a gaggle of carpenter munchkins to make it inhabitable for humans. A little crestfallen, I clicked my heals together and walked out the trailer door. I noted that Mr. Official didn't appear interested in any more chitchat (he was looking the other way), so I walked back to my coupe thinking that at least one good thing happened today and sped off into the sunset.

MELLO-ROOS

sition 13 tax limits?

A. No. The passage of Proposition 13 in 1978 severely restricted local government in its ability to finance public capital facilities and services by increasing real property taxes. The "Mello-Roos Community Facilities Act of 1982" provided local government with an additional financing tool. The Proposition 13 tax limits are on the value of the real property, while Mello-Roos taxes are equally and uniformly applied to all properties.

Q. How long does the tax stay in effect?

A. The tax will stay in effect until the principal and interest on the bonds are paid off along with any reasonable administrative costs incurred in collecting the special tax or so long as it is needed to pay the expenses of services.

Q. How are Mello-Roos taxes affected when the property is sold?

A. The Mello-Roos tax is assessed against the land, but is not based upon the value of the property, therefore the possible increased value of the property does not affect the amount of the tax when property is sold. The amount of the tax may not exceed the original maximum amount stated in the resolution of formation. Any delinquent payments must be satisfied before the sale of the real property since the unpaid amounts are a lien against the property.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2♦	Pass	3♣	3♠
4 NT	Pass	5♦	Pass
7 NT

Opening lead — seven of spades.

This hand was devised many years ago for the annual Inter-Collegiate Bridge Championship. Par for North-South was to bid and make seven notrump. South should surely undertake the grand slam after learning that North has the only missing ace. Thirteen tricks in notrump seem virtually certain.

But if South gets careless during the play, he fails in his mission — and that's what happened to many of the declarers who got to seven notrump.

The first test comes at trick one when declarer must win the spade lead with dummy's ace. He then cashes the queen of spades, discarding the ace of hearts! This is followed by the K-Q-J of hearts, discarding the A-K-Q of clubs!

When declarer next cashes the jack of clubs and East's ten appears, dummy's clubs all become tricks and South easily makes the grand slam.

But let's suppose declarer plays the hand in less spectacular fashion by winning the spade lead with the king and trying to run his diamonds. In that case, he goes down one.

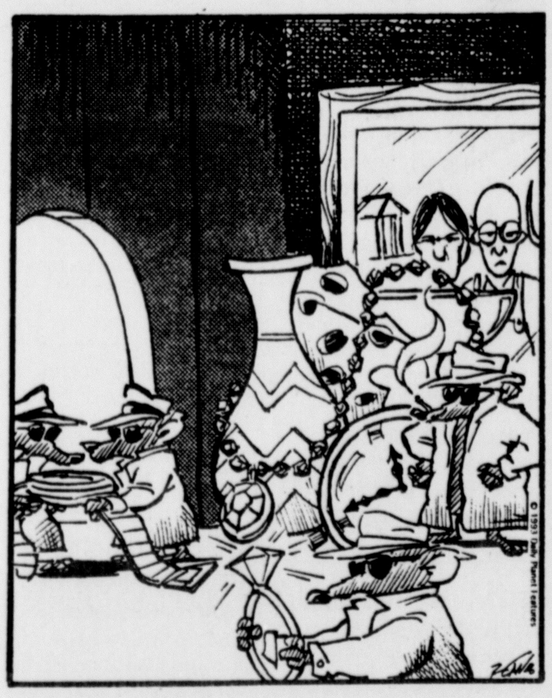

South's first five plays are certainly unusual, but they illustrate an important principle of card play. When dummy appears, South sees that the contract is certain unless the diamonds are divided 4-0.

To guard against this, he plays his cards in the manner described. If the diamonds are divided 2-2 or 3-1, no harm accrues from having discarded the ace of hearts and A-K-Q of clubs early in the play.

But if, as in the actual case, it turns out that the diamonds are divided 4-0. South gives himself an extra chance by putting himself in position to utilize dummy's clubs. The fact that East's ten of clubs falls on dummy's jack is merely poetic justice.
